Hello. My name is Judah Ridgway. I gave a comment at the meeting on the 5th via zoom. My comment was in regard to genetically modified cannabis plants. I think you'll find a correlation between the sharp decline in dispensary sales and the introduction on genetically modified plants... People can taste it. And don't like the product. If you get rid of the genetically modified plants, and let people grow their "bag seeds" I think you'll see a return of sales to the dispensaries. I've included a few links to help tie this together.
